■ Water wise . . . Cr Felicity Farmer encourages residents to visit the Watersense Blue Van.

BRISBANE City Council's Watersense Blue Van will be at the Mt Ommaney Centre until May 19.

The van is Australia's first mobile community awareness program promoting the environmental and cost benefits of water efficiency.

It offers low-flow shower roses, flow restrictors, pool blankets, aerators, manual and electronic tap timers, automated irrigation systems and raintaps.

Brisbane City Councillor Felicity Farmer (Jamboree) said more than 20,000 people had taken advantage of the van's water-saving tips, hints and discounted water-efficient devices.

"It's vital we all do as much as we can when it comes to cutting back our water use and the Blue Van is one way to learn how best to do that," Cr Farmer said.

"It's a great opportunity to purchase water-efficient devices at discounted prices."

The display is opposite Baker's Delight at the Mt Ommaney Centre, 171 Dandenong Rd.
