Dear Andrew,

Recently we attended the Caboolture Farm Fantastic show and Marian spoke to you regard your product (Nowet waterless car wash) and then armed with a sample we returned home to try it. This is a note to let you know the results and our thoughts on the product.

We operate a four wheel drive tour & training business based in Dayboro QLD and use 100 series Landcruiser vehicles to transport passengers as well as to guide tag-along groups. As you can appreciate most of our work is done off road resulting in the need to wash /clean vehicles more often than the average commuter. This requirement has, in recent times become a major problem to us, due in no small part to the introduction of water restrictions and our increasing awareness of the need to preserve a precious resource.

We have tried this product on our two vehicles. One had a couple of days build up of normal road grime as well as a lot of dust from being parked for three days in an unsealed car park with lots of traffic in and out.

The second vehicle was much dirtier including heavy grime and staining from trees etc
The results were nothing short of amazing.

By following the instructions carefully and once only there was no trouble making both cars sparkle.

You could see the dirt being lifted from the surface after the initial application and our biggest concern of scratching during the wipe off stage did not eventuate.

The surface was beautiful and clean, and to our surprise the product had imparted a deep shine to the surface that beaded in the rain we received later that night. Another plus was the lack of effort needed, unlike applying separate polish or wax.

We sometimes are asked to test new equipment/products that might suit the 4x4 fraternity and have become quite cynical of some of the claims made. As a result we have made it a rule never to endorse anything we would not use in our business and we stick to those things we understand. As a training organization we meet a lot of people new to this business and who may be vulnerable to various marketing ploys to relieve them of their hard earned dollar. Therefore we would be tarnishing our own name in the business if we endorsed rubbish.

We are sold on this product already and have no hesitation recommending it to our customers who are always on the lookout for the best way to protect their investment.

In fact, because of the obvious environmental benefits, those responsible for our water storage (councils etc) should be using this on their fleet vehicles to set the rest of us an example.

Obviously we have those occasions when heavy dirt mud or salt need a high-pressure solution but we estimate your product can cut our water consumption by half.

Best Regards
Bob & Marian Rogan
